

BAXTER SPRINGS BIG IN ASSAYS

OVER TWO HUNDRED DOLLARS
A TON AVERAGED ON LOT OF ORE.

The strike at Baxter Springs, reported by K. L. Parrott and R. Petroni, has proved to be one of the best yet encountered in the district. John Kirchen, general manager of the Tonopah Extension, yesterday made assays of 120 pounds of the ore which had been brought in, and got in the neighborhood of twelve ounces for an average. This means that the new strike will go $240 to the ton.

The very rich samples which were brought in by the owners of the mine were not assayed. They are full of gold, and speak for themselves without the aid of the assayer. Some of them will go into the thousands, but how much of this kind of stuff there is, is not known.

OPTIMISTIC ON THE SITUATION

BROKER BANNON OF SAN FRANCISCO, BIRD OF PASSAGE IN TONOPAH.

William Bannon, one of the best known and most progressive brokers of the big San Francisco board, was in the city yesterday, and leaves for San Francisco this morning. He is accompanied by Lewis H. Greene, also of San Francisco. The gentlemen came here from Rhyolite, where they had some business.

"The country is quiet, but it looks good wherever we have gone," said Mr. Bannon. "It is only a matter of time when the stocks of Southern Nevada will again be the favorites in the speculating. Just now there is very little doing in the East or West in the way of speculating or investing, and of course we all know the cause. But money is getting easier everywhere, and it is only a matter of getting the money into circulation."

"It was a kind of a setback to us when the dividend of the Tonopah Mining was passed, but the statement published by the company seems to be satisfactory, for the stock, I see, took a sudden turn in the East today, and is now $4.75."

"San Francisco is going to be the greatest city in the world. It is a wonderful sight to gaze upon the great buildings which have been put up, and the others which are in the course of erection, when one stops to think of what happened a year ago last April. The labor troubles have all been settled and the banks have resumed the payments of cash. Anybody who has been doing business right along with the banks can get all the money that he wants if he has it in the bank. The stock situation is getting better in the city, too, and just as soon as the financial situation has been cleared up there are going to be more people in the game than ever before."

"NELL GWYNNE" SUNDAY NIGHT

HIGH PRAISE FOR THE LEADING WOMAN OF AYLESWORTH COMPANY.

Tonopah is looking forward in delightful anticipation to Sunday night, when the first performance of the new Aylesworth company will be given at the Eagles Pavilion. The charming story of the charming Nell Gwynne is to be presented with all the accessories of stage furniture and furnishings, and it will be a performance well worth witnessing. Miss Georgia Harper, who plays the leading role, comes to us in high favor with the Eastern press and people, and her support is said to be most acceptable.

The new company has a very striking repertoire, and Tonopah has a treat for a week ahead of it, and notwithstanding the high class company and the high class production, from "Tribby" to "Quo Vadis," the prices are going to be kept down to suit the times. One of the plays in which Miss Harper is to appear, is "Camille," and of her in that role, an Eastern paper has the following to say:

"There are plays and plays, and actors and actors, and there are plays that live and actors that leave a lasting memory behind them. Among the plays that must live forever is 'Camille.' Among the actors and actresses that will leave a lasting memory is Miss Georgia Harper. She must necessarily become interlinked with the play of 'Camille.' She has been pronounced by eminent authority the greatest interpreter of this sad and interesting character. Every actor has a choice of plays and is better adapted to some special character than others. Miss Harper is great in all of her work, but in 'Camille' she is especially adapted. She carries the audience to the home of the unfortunate woman, there shows it the inner life, the trials, the temptations and disappointments of a life of the world; and then the penalty of such a life is paid in the saddest manner ever depicted. The hearts of the audience throb with the heart-broken Camille, as Miss Harper leads on in the work, and in the final death scene there is not a dry eye in the audience, and many gasp with the dying woman in the sympathy created for her by the wonderful work of Miss Harper. Mr. Detrick as Armand Duval, ranks high in the work, and Mr. J. G. Harper is especially well placed as the senior Duval. In fact, every member of the company has been chosen with a view of especial adaptation to the character presented."

GREAT SHOW AT THE BUTLER

The Butler theater was packed again last night, the crowd at the first house in particular being one that did the heart good. And the show is a wonder, including all sorts of moving pictures to please the fancy and delight the eye. The titles of the pictures in bald type do not begin to convey the slightest conception of their worth to the most vivid imagination. For instance, there is one picture called "The Cigar Box." Now, who would expect to see a bevy of beautiful damsels come out of a cigar box, and go dancing and prancing around the stage? It is simply the title for one of the cleverest bits of legerdemain. "Making Pottery in Japan," is a very interesting and instructive piece of work, and "The Baby's First Outing," is a side-splitting sketch. But the masterpiece is the rendition of the ever delightful and fascinating story of "Cinderella, and the Glass Slipper." There is a wealth of beautiful scenery and costumes, gorgeous hangings, dazzling ballets, and mystifying sleight of hand that is simply bewildering. The entire show is one of the cleverest that we have yet seen.

MURDERS MAY NOW BE SOLVED

INDIAN SUSPECTED OF HAVING KILLED GRIFFIN AND CONNORS ARRESTED.

The mystery of what appears to be one of the most cold-blooded murders committed in Nevada, may be cleared up, says the Goldfield Tribune. Nearly two months ago Barney Griffin and Jim Connors met their deaths by gunshot wounds in a camp on Cottonwood, eight miles south of Silver Peak. How long they had been dead when found, no one could tell. The bodies were badly decomposed and were covered with cedar boughs. Some distance away was the ruins of their tent, which had been burned by the murderer. The assassin or assassins had a long start when Sheriff Ingalls was notified of the tragedy, but he went to work to work on the case, and it looks as though he had not missed any of the trails that finally resulted in what appears to be the capture of the right man.

A Piute Indian, named George Williams, was brought into town yesterday and landed in the county jail. He will be charged with the murder of the two prospectors.

The Indian was arrested at Sweetwater on Tuesday, by Deputy Sheriffs W. J. Box and W. Y. Gale, and he made no resistance. He was covered before he was told to throw up his hands. Last September the accused man was arrested here on the charge of stealing a horse from a rancher on East Walker river, and landed in the county jail. He was given his liberty, and one morning quietly disappeared. The next heard of him he was in the neighborhood of Silver Peak and Cottonwood.

The supposition is that he made the acquaintance of the prospectors and batched with them for a while. It is supposed that he got hold of a shotgun and one day left it in the tent and took a 30-30 rifle they owned and went out into the hills. He was next seen at Valcaldia Springs and had the rifle with him. He told the proprietor of the little store there that if Griffin and Connors would leave his shotgun with him he would gladly return and give up the rifle. This was done. The tragedy occurred a few days later.

When the officers arrived on the scene a heavy snow had fallen, and there was no way of tracking the murderer. A silent hunt was instituted, and a slight clue was secured as to who the probable murderer was. It pointed toward the Indian. A deputy sheriff who knows all the trails in that section, as well as the ways and habits of the Piutes, was put on the case. He discovered that Williams had come into the Indian Queen camp, near Summit, riding a burro, which he left there, and also the shotgun, which he traded for food. He stole a horse there, it is said, and away he went again. He was located by Deputy Sheriff Jones over near Mono Lake, a month ago, but was evidently informed by some other Indians that Jones, who knew him, was in that vicinity, and away he went again on the stolen horse. He was finally located on the Conway ranch, where he was employed in hauling hay, by Deputies Box and Gale.

The rifle was found at the ranch, as well as the stolen horse and two silver watches which are supposed to have been in the pockets of the two men killed. One of these watches had been sold to a prospector, and the other was found in the room occupied by the Indian at the ranch house. While on his way to Goldfield he refused to talk about his arrest. Sheriff Ingalls tried yesterday to get him to recount something of his doings around Silver Peak at the time that the prospectors were murdered, but while he was willing to talk on other matters, he was silent about anything in relation to the tragedy. The State has offered a reward of $250 for the arrest and conviction of the murderer, and it was supposed that an equal amount would be given by the company, but no action has yet been taken.
